Per Jennifer Swearengin - All of these methods have their own state reporting and billing codes. How a course is offered affects student billing and state regent’s reporting.

This being said, once a course has enrollment*, certainly after billing and definitely after the semester starts, this method of delivery CANNOT be changed. Students have paid fees for certain delivery methods. Rooms have been reserved both on and off campus. Technical equipment and personnel have been put into place to offer the courses as students have originally enrolled in them.
